Activity: Webquest

Do schools disadvantage minority ethnic pupils?

Learning objectives

At the end of this activity you should be able to:

- Identify factors in schools that may impact on the achievement of minority ethnic pupils.
- Identify how representative heads and teachers are of the ethnic diversity of the UK.
- Evaluate whether the ethnic make-up of the teaching profession has an impact on the achievement of minority ethnic pupils.

Internal factors can have an impact of the achievement of pupils from ethnic minority groups. Complete the activities related to each of the two articles below.

Article 1

Sameena Choudry is founder of Equitable Education. Her career has been devoted to closing the achievement gap between different groups of pupils. She has worked as a classroom teacher, senior leader, Post Graduate Certificate in Education course leader and head of education services in three local authorities.

- A. Make a list of the ways that, according to Sameena Choudry, her school failed to support her in achieving her goals. Which of these may link to the following points:
- Labelling and teacher racism?
 - Pupil responses and subcultures?
 - Institutional racism?
- B. In her first teaching job, how was Sameena treated? How might this be linked to her ethnicity? According to Sameena, what proportion of pupils are from minority ethnic backgrounds?
